OXFORD COUNTY TEL. & TEL. ACQUIRES STOCK OF BRYANT POND PHONE CO.

Last Thursday afternoon the Oxford County Telephone and Telegraph Company of Buckfield acquired the stock and a portion of the equipment of the Bryant Pond Telephone Company from Eldon Hathaway, Bryant Pond.

Robert Jamison, manager of Oxford County Telephone, did not reveal the entire cost of acquisition of Bryant Pond Telephone, but did note that the stock was purchased for $50,000. He also pointed out that only a portion of the Bryant Pond firm's equipment was acquired.

The purchase of the crank-operated Bryant Pond system will add another 529 phones to the 5,000 phones already in Oxford County Telephone's system.

Mr. Jamison stated that he had no idea of the exact age of the Bryant Pond system but in looking over the old records he had learned that in 1938 there were only 15 phones in the Bryant Pond area of Woodstock. He said it would be a realization of a dream when he could see the installation of modern equipment in the Bryant Pond area.

Believed to be the sole remaining hand-crank telephone system in the United States, the Bryant Pond Telephone Company was acquired by Eldon Hathaway in 1951.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Golden sunshine filtered through the trees at early dawn. Blue sky overhead framed puffy clouds, a lovely morning with the hum of bees and the small of flowers after a rain-washed air.

A telephone call came. "Would you like to go to the coast today?"
"Yes."

In a short time we were off.
I looked forward to the sea, rolling endlessly in mountain corrugation. Ridge after ridge swelling and hurling itself upon the rocky shore, then breaking with a crash sending a white spray into the air.

In a couple of hours we were there to enjoy it all.
The landscape of the sea is something man has been unable to change and its beauties go on rolling and re-forming. On some days all is calm, compliant, on others it springs with conflict and force. Today the waves were without wind.

We sat at the lands drop off, ate our lunch and looked down upon the petrified log-rocks. No others that I have seen look like these
at "Two Lights."

Gulls wheeled high and free out over the water and rocks with a trumpeting laugh.

A small boy sat below us offering food. The gulls skirmished, mewing and crying; then stood with a to-do-nothing air, lined up, waiting. At last with a flip and a dash they would fling themselves into the air, leaving with a flight of neatness only to return and settle upon the rocks.

From where we sat the blocks
and strips of stone angled down into the water and spread away as subsurface reefs, dangerous to sailors. The strata of stone examined by eye alone would convince anyone that the material is wood.
It seemed as if to touch these weathered and fraying fibers one could easily tear off strips. Because of this deceived appearance nature makes each step a surprise.
Many venture out on the slanting strips of stone, jumping the tiny pools, and channels with firm footing. Placing a hand upon the stones gives assurance the stuff is real.

A trail winds its way through a pretty glade of trees by the coastal rim.

A few roses were in bloom and a few trees were stunted by poor soil and exposure to storms and cold.

A freighter and a lobster boat emerged.

progressed. But looking across the waters, the sea was smooth except for the slow heaves and sighs that characterize the fact that the sea is never still. Looking, now, I could not imagine the fury of the storms that at times in other seasons possess it. How plants and animals can endure such crushing force is hard to understand; especially when some are so delicately made.

When at home again, standing on the porch, I could see the quiet cozy afterglow that follows a lovely sunset. These afterglows seemed like a few stubborn coals, which had remained against the coming of darkness. They were symbols of a happy, bright tomorrow.

WIGHT - MASON

On May 30, 1981, the Nazarene Church in Bethel was the scene of a beautiful wedding uniting Michael John Wight and Carole Lynn Mason.

The bride wore a long white dress with a traditional veil. Becky Jodrey, her maid of honor, wore a long blue dress. Melinda Mason, sister of the bride and a bridesmaid, wore green. The other bridesmaids, Marlene Bean, and Nancy Morgan, wore pink and yellow respectively. The dresses of the bridesmaids were made by Debra Seames.

The gorgeous cake, made by Arlene Bean, was four-tiered with a bride and groom on the top. Pink, blue and yellow flowers with green leaves were between the tiers, on top of and around the cake. The cake was a gift to the couple from Sonny and Arlene Bean.

Michael's best man was his brother, Brad. Ushers were Jeff Fleet, Nathan Greenleaf and John Swan. Carol, a native of Bethel, graduated from Telstar in June of 1981. Michael, from Newry, graduated in 1975 from Telstar.

After a wedding trip to Old Orchard the couple are now making their home at Doon's Trailer Park, Bethel.

All interested participants are asked to meet at the Crescent Park field Monday, Aug. 3, at 6 p. m. for registration, an introduction to the game and the first practice.

No registration fee is required and no prior knowledge or experience is necessary. There are no tryouts—everyone will make a team and will play.

A number of people have expressed interest in helping with this program and those and any others should plan to be at the first session.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Last week there was a letter to the editor concerning the Music Festival. There was misinformation concerning the group "Mainstream." Mainstream does not consider themselves beginners. The group has been together in various combinations for the past three years and most of them have been playing instruments since grade school. The Rotarians were generous in their selection of five hours recording time which is a good start for Mainstream. However, the group will plan on paying for further recording time in order to complete a LP.

The fact that last week's dissent toward the group thought that our material was not original, was flattering. Our trumpeter composed half of our material.

I would like to thank those people who supported and gave us much encouragement.

Sincerely,
What's His Name,

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Ever notice it's easier and sometimes even more "pleasant" to look at television—read a mystery story or what ever than to open the Bible?

Yes, that's how it is—it's just "plain natural"—and it's even natural for people to be superstitious—believing in impractical things such as "knocking on wood" and "walking under a ladder" and "having a black cat cross your path"—things of the occult with roots that are hidden in the mist of a shadowy past.—Plain natural, Yes, in this so-called modern age there is an affinity toward these things. The word "natural" appears 13 times in the King James Bible.

So, the natural comes rather easy because it's the nature of man in his fallen state, being separated from God—not that it's God's desire—for He loves us—but it's our own want to stay away from God—that's why T.V. and things of the world draw us, it's natural. That's why people of the world look askance—disapproval—when a Christian says "Praise the Lord" in a public place—it's just plain not natural", I Cor. 2:14. "For the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him neither can he

SEN. WILLIAM COHEN From Washington

There has been a lot of talk in Washington recently about national defense.

Much of the talk has been about various types of weapons systems. There is, however, an equally serious aspect of our defense situation which needs to be addressed—the issue of manpower.

I testified last week before the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee on legislation I have authored to re-establish GI educational benefits. This is one of the important manpower related issues upon which Congress must act.

The old GI Bill which provided educational benefits for members of the armed services was allowed to expire in 1976. This, in my judgement was a serious mistake. The GI Bill was by any estimation, one of the best and most successful government programs ever administered. One study shows that as many as 36% of people who joined the military before termination of the GI Bill enlisted primarily because of the incentive of educational benefits.

know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

The Bible is not this nation's main stay—not taught in public schools because it's not read and taught at home—why nations are ready for war and the Mediterranean fruit fly infestation is but one indication of God's disapproval of our laxity in reading and believing His Word—preferring instead the "natural" things of the world. The Bible is very specific as we may read in 2 Timothy 3—This know, also, that in the last days perilous times shall come—ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth".

However, there is hope—it's found in Jesus Christ—accepting Him as our Lord and Savior—committing ourselves to Him totally—reading His Word—perhaps the Book of John—asking Him to forgive us of our sins. God will draw us to Himself and a peace beyond our understanding will come to be ours.

I Cor. 15:44 "We are sown in a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body" Vs. 46 "And as sure as we have borne the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly."

5th ANNUAL DOUBLES TENNIS TOURNAMENT SET FOR AUG. 8-9 TO BENEFIT CANCER SOC.

The 5th Annual Doubles Tennis Tournament for the benefit of the American Cancer Society will be held Aug. 8 and 9 at the Gould Academy and Barn Motel tennis courts.

Men's doubles will be held Aug. 8 starting at 9 a. m. Women's doubles will be held Aug. 9 starting at 9 a. m. Entry fee is $7.50 per person, payable to the American Cancer Society.

Entry blanks may be picked up at Prim's Pharmacy or from Virginia Cole and Paul Kailey, Tournament Directors.

There has also been testimony that veterans who train under the GI Bill return more to the treasury in taxes than the United States pays for their education.

Following the expiration of the GI Bill in 1976, the quality of enlistees dropped. I believe we must do more to attract and retain qualified service personnel.

My bill would allow persons enlisting or re-enlisting in the armed forces to earn up to 36 months of educational benefits by completing four years of honorable service. Individuals could begin using their benefits after two years of service.

One important section of my bill is a provision aiding those serving in the nation's reserve forces. Reserve personnel would accrue benefits more slowly, but they would receive the recognition which I feel is imperative if we are to attract personnel to this critical element of our armed forces. Our reserves are below the required strength, and we must provide educational incentives to help bring the forces up to par.

If we can provide a program of educational benefits which brings top-quality young people into the service for several years, the nation will be better for it. Our defense force will be improved by bringing in educationally motivated young men and women, savings will be realized through reduced attrition and training costs, and the service experience will prove an enlightening one for enlistees and those with whom they associate.

I believe this program is a good one. It represents the kind of direction we should be moving in as we seek to strengthen our military forces.

THE EAST BUTTERFIELD MILITIA DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS, above, as they appeared in the Mollycodd Day parade on July 18, will be a part of the Indian Raid Bicentennial Parade this Saturday.

The Week in Washington

by Sen. George J. Mitchell

In March, the entire Maine Congressional Delegation met with Gov. Brennan and top state officials to review the impact on Maine of proposed federal budget cuts. I supported many of those cuts, because they are necessary to help control inflation.

But the Governor advised us that one cut above all would, if made, have a devastating impact on Maine's economy. That was the proposal by the administration to terminate the Economic Development Administration (EDA).

The EDA has been a remarkably successful program, especially in Maine where it has been responsible for creating 38,000 jobs. Its successes in helping old and new industries stretch from Kennebunk to Van Buren. EDA is not a hand-out program. In fact, it returns more money to the government than it costs, in the form of loan repayments with interest and the tax revenues that increase when men and women are able to go off unemployment and get productive jobs.

Since that March meeting I have devoted a great deal of time and effort to saving EDA. Last week a group of House and Senate conferees virtually assured the continued existence of EDA by approving $200 million for the program's funding for 1982.

Maine has a substantial stake in an assured future for EDA. Several important projects that will create jobs and generate private investment for commercial and industrial ventures depend on EDA's continuation—including fish piers along Maine's coast, a central potato packing and grading facility in the St. John Valley, and hopefully, a central storage facility for Maine's poultry farmers.

As one of the Senate conferees who approved EDA's continuation, I am extremely pleased at the outcome. The final outcome of the conferees' deliberations is important for many Maine communities and other areas suffering economic hardship. But the outcome was not arrived at easily. Over the past few months, I offered four amendments in the Senate to restore funds for EDA. I will keep working to continue and improve the EDA program in the remainder of this session of Congress.

When conferees from the House and Senate public works committees met last Wednesday to reconcile differences between the House and Senate budget bills under their jurisdiction, it became clear that EDA was one of the most controversial items for debate. After a six-hour session, a compromise figure of $200 million was accepted.

It was a battle well worth the fight. In our efforts to improve our economy by strengthening the capacity of the private sector, EDA is too important a program to lose.

Northwest Bethel

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —

The sky has turned to a beautiful shade of blue and looking out the window I can see the oaks and maples swaying in the breeze against the blue background. This morning when I called Alberta Angevine and Evelyn Hilborn they said that it had already cleared from the rains of last night, while here it was making a regular t-a-t on the roof and tar it was raining so hard. Saturday was a beautiful day and several from here attended the school surplus auction.

After the rains of the week end before; Wednesday when it cleared the vegetables came on fast. Many of the ladies have been busy canning and freezing. These come in so handy when the winter comes.

July 21, my cousin, Shirley Petzold, of Andover, Mass., came for a visit. She had brought her mother, Aunt Marion Wilson, of Lawrence, Mass., to visit my folks, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Norway, July 19. Thursday, Shirley and I went to the folks for dinner and Shirley stayed.

July 16, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hamon took a trip to Pennsylvania. They also stopped in New York and visited the Statue of Liberty. They arrived home July 21 and Sally received a call that her father, Lou Belanger of Portsmouth, N. H., had just passed away. When they returned home, her nephew, Dougie Belanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Belanger, returned for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, Kristy and Tim, went to Colebrook, N. H., Saturday, and spent the night with Dick's uncle, John Angevine, and family, returning home Sunday.

Monday, Kristy Angevine went to band practice at Telstar for Indian Raid Festivities.

Saturday, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaw had a barbecue with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston at the Keniston camp at Songo.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Murphy came up Saturday for his 10th reunion from Telstar and Sid had her granddaughter, August, for the day. They spent the night and had a barbecue at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy's before going home to Sebago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert and grandson, Justin, went to the iris auction in Gorham, Me. Saturday. Evelyn Hilborn, Sylvia Stephenson, and Alberta Angevine, enjoyed several days outing last week.

Sent in by Eva Yates:

A dark cloudy Monday morning but the old weather man says the sun will shine later and I am sure he is right. Not much to write about the Go-Shoes, what with the garden in full swing, canning and freezing taking over there isn't much for the Go-Shoes to do but hang on the hook. That's where they have been until yesterday they did go visiting and for a kitchen picnic dinner. Even in the kitchen a picnic dinner tastes good. I am sure there is a lot of news but I don't get any. We have had no callers. It's been so long since we saw Maude, and we miss her. Our Rawleigh lady Elsie has been on vacation so— Peggy Blake and Russell took in the ball game Tuesday night only to see our Red Sox get beat.

Our Sheriff Williams I guess didn't like the company so he took his trailer and moved to North-west Bethel. Sorry to have him leave.

I hope the person that took the nose dive down over the bank near Jim Brown's place Friday night was not too badly hurt. He mowed off the electric light pole awful quick but didn't stop at that, he still went down over the bank.

Bad news comes to us all—I heard Friday, a nephew had been in the Norway hospital for three weeks and will be under the doctor's care for a year and more and has to have three more operations. So sorry, Jim!

Be happy — cold weather will soon be here.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks took Olive and Mr. and Mrs. Lional O'Blenes to Rumford Grange where the girls all held office on C. W. A. night.

Saturday Esther Davis went to Westbrook where she called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deegan, and Sunday evening she attended "Drive-In" at Oxford to see "Coal Miner's Daughter".

Tuesday afternoon, Esther Davis was visited by her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Whittemore, Livermore Falls, and daughters, Mrs. Carl Wyatt, Goldboro, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. David Wooten, Livermore Falls and David Wooten.

Albert Downing and Frank Knox are working on the rented house of Olive Davis at present. Cheryl Stowell and Angela Noyes helped Olive Davis clean a couple of days.

This has been a good year for gardens. The beans are bearing profusely and I picked cucumbers Wednesday and made three cans of dill. I never had such heavy foliage. The ground is literally covered by the plants. I presume because we have had so much rain it has made the garden really grow.

Titled "Leading An Effective School," the two-week institute reaffirmed "its commitment to the development of the principal as an educational leader" and focused on developing principals' skills in improving teacher effectiveness and managing the school's instructional program. Mrs. Davis feels the Academy was a unique opportunity for participants to cooperate in the important task of leading schools to provide the best educational experiences for students now and in the future.

ski area depends upon its ability to grow and continue to provide the necessary facilities for a quality skiing experience. Sunday River Skiway Corporation, formed in 1959, has established a reputation for dependable skiing through 12 years experience in operating one of New England's most productive snowmaking systems. The ski area has continually added terrain covered by the system to provide a variety of trails for every skiing ability.

Completion of the entire project is expected by early November. Sunday River is aiming for an official opening day of Friday, Nov. 13, for the start of the 1981-82 ski season.

Dr. Wayne F. Gersen

One of the issues the Board of Directors of S. A. D. #44 plans to address in the coming year is the delivery of vocational education services to juniors and seniors at Telstar Regional High School. During the past legislative session, the legislature passed the Secondary Vocational Education Act, which provides local districts with a means of exploring alternatives to the existing structure of vocational education in their area.

Currently, Telstar juniors and seniors interested in pursuing a vocational course of studies have the option of participating in the NOVA program. The NOVA, or Northern Oxford Vocational Area, program is governed by representatives from four school districts: S. A. D. #44, in Bethel; Rumford School District; S. A. D. #43, in Mexico; and S. A. D. #21, in Dixfield. NOVA offers courses to juniors and seniors in these four districts in building trades, health occupations, metal trades, cooperative work study and forestry. The courses are organized in a two year sequence, with the first level completed in the junior year, and the second level in the senior year. During the past school year, 34 students from the junior and senior classes at Telstar participated in the NOVA program, with $43,195 budgeted for NOVA. For the year ahead, 27 students have enrolled in the NOVA program, at a cost of $49,600.

The future of NOVA is somewhat cloudy, since NOVA has lost its metal trades instructional area at Rumford High School, and, therefore, will be forced to either initiate a building program, or find an alternative classroom space at a higher cost. Since our district's enrollments in the NOVA program have been relatively low, and the future of the NOVA program is somewhat uncertain, the Board of Directors is particularly interested in exploring alternatives to the existing vocational program. In order for our district to be able to provide an alternative to vocational education services for the 1982-1983 school year, it will be necessary for the Board of Directors to address this issue immediately. The Secondary Vocational Education Act outlines an elaborate procedure that must be followed by a school district seeking vocational education alternatives. The first step in this undertaking is to form an Ad Hoc Committee to address the delivery of vocational services. The Committee would include Board members, administrators, faculty members, and community members, and would be officially recognized by the Board of Directors with a formal vote. The committee would be charged with developing a report for the Board of Directors that describes the problem with the existing method of delivering vocational education services, and describes several alternative methods of delivering similar or improved vocational services. The alternative methods might include modifications to the NOVA program. This report would be reviewed by the Board of Directors, who would either endorse one of the alternative delivery plans, or choose to pursue vocational education services through NOVA.

On Monday evening, Aug. 3, 1981, at their meeting to set goals for the 1981-1982 school year, the Board of Directors will decide if they will begin the procedure that is necessary in order for the district to provide alternatives to the current NOVA program. The Board's intent is not the elimination of vocational education. Rather, the Board is attempting to get more for each dollar spent for vocational education by improving the vocational programs offered to juniors and seniors at Telstar Regional High School. If you have any interest in improving vocational education, or any suggestions related to the delivery of vocational education services, please feel free to contact a member of the Board of Directors, or one of the school district administrators to discuss your thoughts on this issue.
